Final Office Action

Claims 1-10 are pending. No claim is allowed at this time. Amendments are entered.

Summary of this Office Action dated December 17, 2006

1. Information Disclosure Statement
2. Copending Applications
3. Specification
4. 35 USC § 103(a) Rejection
5. Data in the Specification
6. Response to Arguments
7. Conclusion
8. Communication

Information Disclosure Statement

The listing of references in the specification is not a proper information disclosure statement. 37 CFR 1.98(b) requires a list of all patents, publications, or other information submitted for consideration by the Office, and MPEP § 609.04(a) states, "the list may not be incorporated into the specification but must be submitted in a separate paper." Therefore, unless the references have been cited by the examiner on form PTO-892, they have not been considered.

Copending Applications

Applicants must bring to the attention of the examiner, or other Office official involved with the examination of a particular application, information within their knowledge as to other copending United States applications, which are "material to patentability" of the application in question. MPEP 2001.06(b). See Dayco Products Inc. v. Total Containment Inc., 66 USPQ2d 1801 (CA FC 2003).

Specification

The specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103 – Obviousness Rejection

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over MULLER et al.<sup>1</sup> and WAKAI et al.<sup>2</sup>. Both the references teach fungicidal mixtures, which embrace presently, claimed invention. See the entire documents.

MULLER et al. teaches a fungicidal mixture containing a benzophenone of formula (I), which is (component (2) in present claims), a carbamates of formula (II), (component (4) in present claims) and azoles derivatives (component 3 in present claims) in synergistic amounts. See the abstract, pages 1-4, Table 1 on page 5, page 7, and lines 39-45 on page 8. For synergistic activity see lines 19-28, on page 10, 40-46 on page 11 and 12, Table 1 on pages 13-20.

The reference does not teach the combination of the compounds of component as presently claimed.

WAKAI et al. teaches benzamideoxime compounds (component (1) in present claims) containing fungicidal mixtures. See the entire document especially paragraph [0002] and [0003] on page 2 and paragraph [0004]

Instant claims differ from the prior art in claiming a synergistic combination of three components and optionally component 4.

It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time of invention to prepare additional beneficial compositions useful as fungicides by combining the components 1 to 3 and optionally 4 because all the compounds are known as excellent fungicides. It is prima facie obvious to combine two compositions each of which is taught by the prior art to be useful for the same purpose in order to form a third composition that is to be used for the very same purpose; the idea of combining them flows logically from their having been individually taught in the prior art. In re Kerkhoven, 205 USPQ 1069. Furthermore, some combinations are synergistic as taught by the prior art.

In absence of any criticality and/or unexpected results presently claimed invention would have been obvious to one skilled in the art.

In the light of the forgoing discussion, the Examiner's ultimate legal conclusion is that the subject matter defined by the instant claims would have been obvious within the meaning of 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Data In the Specification

The data disclosed in specification has been fully considered but was not found persuasive. Since the compounds are known and the synergistic data as presented in the specification on pages---are not considered synergistic. The margin of error in the calculations is not disclosed. The additional data of two components and the synergistic and additional data of the three components is not significantly different. Applicant is kindly requested to explain the data.

Response to Arguments

Claims are amended therefore rejection under 112 (1) and (2) paragraphs are withdrawn. Rejection under 103 (a) is maintained for the same reasons as set forth in our previous action and as cited above. Arguments were fully considered but are not found persuasive because the data presented in the specification is not synergistic for the reasons cited above.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
